Destination Germany

The good things are so close – anyone who prefers a short journey or is looking for a suitable short break destination will find what they are looking for in Hall 3 of the trade fair, which is entirely dedicated to Destination Germany and thus follows the trend towards vacations in your own country.

Active/adventure holidays worldwide

According to the FUR travel analysis, Saxons do not like to lie around on their lazy skin on vacation, but are active and therefore much more adventurous than the German average. Active vacations are therefore in demand at Dresden – the travel trade fair presents attractive long-haul destinations as well as popular European destinations and invites you to travel the world.

Alpine delights

The mountain region between snow-capped peaks, blooming Alpine meadows and deep mountain lakes – In summer, the Alps are an ideal hiking, mountain biking and climbing region, while in winter they attract as a real skiing paradise.

Cruising

Whether an expedition trip to the pack ice, a luxury cruise on the Mediterranean, a cruise to the Caribbean, a river cruise on local waters or a family cruise – guests can choose from a wide variety on site at, book their cruise at and benefit from attractive trade fair offers.

THE WORLD IS TOO BEAUTIFUL TO STAY IN ONE PLACE.

Experience countries, people & traditions directly at the trade fair

Camping is in vogue – since 2015, the annual number of new registrations of motorhomes has more than doubled. A study by the German Institute of Tourism Economics (dwif) shows that caravanning is the most cost-effective form of vacation in Europe. Depending on the destination, travelers can save up to 60% compared to vacation apartments or hotels.

Whether family caravan, compact trailer, campervan or luxury motorhome – Hall 1 is all about freedom and independence of a trip on four wheels.
